

Good+Foundation

Academy Trainer

MISSION

Good+Foundation is a nonprofit organization founded by Jessica Seinfeld in 2001 that addresses multi-generational poverty by leveraging the power of “goods” paired with transformational services to help low-income families move toward financial stability. Good+Foundation makes grants to programs that have demonstrated a capacity to improve family economic security in three areas: supporting new mothers, engaging fathers and early child development. The Foundation has a team of over 15 full-time staff with an annual operating budget of approximately $2 million in cash and $5M in product. The organization’s main office is in the Garment District of NYC, with an office in Los Angeles, CA.

OPPORTUNITY

Good+Foundation is currently seeking a trainer to join the Good+ Training Academy team to provide virtual and/or in-person training (when safe to do so), offer technical assistance, and facilitate connections to resources in an effort to transform social service systems that have been identified as obstacles in helping families thrive.

The Good+ Training Academy seeks to increase the capacity of individuals and agencies who want to invest in utilizing a trauma-informed lens to successfully support fathers, mothers, and families. We’ve found these particular areas to be blind spots in the broader social sector, and we believe that providing high-quality training opportunities is essential to breaking down the systemic barriers that prevent the marginalization of many low-income families.

The ideal candidate should be a confident public speaker who is up-to-date on the latest tools and resources needed to provide training using both a trauma-informed lens and a Two-Generation (2Gen) approach that builds a family’s well-being and promotes effective engagement.

EDUCATION

Bachelor’s degree required; Advanced degree or comparable work experience, a plus.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Facilitation and coordination of requested trainings
- Develop a schedule to assess training needs
- Consult with other trainers, program partners and Good+ leadership to assess training needs
- Track and compile collected data

- Conceptualize training materials based on current data and research
- Communicate training needs and online resources
- Create training strategies, initiatives, and materials
- Contact and utilize outside vendors and resources for instructional technology

QUALIFICATIONS

- A minimum of 5 years of professional experience in the Family Support field
- Experience training professionals in the Family Support field
- Deep knowledge of current fatherhood program practices and research across the U.S. and strong commitment to the broader engaged fatherhood movement
- Excellent interpersonal and communications skills are essential, including written communications and public speaking
- Posses time management and organizational skills, a strong work ethic, and an unwavering passion for Good+Foundation's mission of transforming the lives of families in need
- Proficient computer skills, Microsoft Office Suite (Word, PowerPoint, Outlook, and Excel), and instructional software
- Experience with technologies and best practices for instructional manuals and teaching platforms

SCHEDULE

Monday- Friday 9:00am- 5:00pm, available to work nights, weekends, and travel needed.

SALARY

Commensurate with experience. Full medical benefits, including dental and vision. Paid vacation, personal, & sick leave. Eligible for 403(b) retirement plan.

TO APPLY

Interested applicants should email his/her resume, cover letter and references to hr@goodplusfoundation.org. Position will be open until filled.